

Identify Verbs

Carry and ship are action verbs. An action verb tells what someone or something does.

The workers carry boxes.
We ship goods on planes.

Try It Together

Read these sentences with a partner. Find the action verbs.

I find a shirt at the store.
I ask my dad for the shirt.
I wear the new shirt home.

Making Connections You read about how people deliver things we need. Now read about how we pay for what we need.

Genre A fact sheet is nonfiction. This fact sheet gives facts about money.

Money

by Heather Langer

Money can be paper.

one dollar bill

five dollar bill

ten dollar bill

twenty dollar bill

Money can be coins.

penny = one cent

1¢

nickel = five cents

5¢

dime = ten cents

10¢

quarter = twenty-five cents

25¢

People pay money for things they need.

People save money for things they want. ❖

Compare Genres

How are “Delivery” and “Money” different?

Poem

Papers come one by one.

rhyming text

182

Fact Sheet

Money can be paper.

facts

one dollar bill

five dollar bill

ten dollar bill

twenty dollar bill

Money can be coins.

penny = one cent
1¢

nickel = five cents
5¢

dime = ten cents
10¢

quarter = twenty-five cents
25¢

204

Talk Together

Think about what you read and learned. How do we get what we need and want?

Subject-Verb Agreement: be and have

Some verbs do not show action, such as be and have.

The truck is big. The truck has a flat tire.

tells about one thing

The boxes are heavy. The boxes have cans in them.

tells about more than one thing

Grammar Rules Subject-Verb Agreement

be in present tense

To tell about one person, place, or thing, use is.

To tell about more than one, use are.

have in present tense

To tell about one person, place, or thing, use has.

To tell about more than one, use have.

Read a Sentence

Why is the verb have used in the sentence?

Three trucks have big wheels.

Write a Sentence

Write a sentence about one van. Use the verb be.